

somalia has been chosen to be a part of a special group that works for peace all over the world they won this position in a vote on june 6th this is the first time since the 1970s that somalia has had this job before this somalia had many problems with wars and fighting but in 2009 a new government helped bring back stability somalias recent challenges with fighting groups make it an important voice for peace and safety globally